

Kimberly Kvorka

The glue and finesse to our fast-moving team.

Kim takes the lead to be sure all clients have the tools they need to be successful, and that they feel supported and valued as we work together. She is often the first person a client interacts with, and continues to be a resource as the work unfolds. Her friendly demeanor and laser-like focus are the perfect combination to be sure everything is covered and moving forward. Her attention to detail and ability to create more efficient processes and structures is a benefit both for internal applications and for clients.

Kim is the glue that holds the team together, always ready to jump in where she can or at least offer a funny one-liner to ease the stress of hectic days. We often joke that we are laying the track while the bullet-train is barreling forward, and most days, Kim puts down the first and last piece of track.

Most recently, Kim was the Executive Assistant and Accounts Administrator for a research and consulting firm based out of East Lansing, Michigan. She is experienced in managing people and processes, and brings order to chaos everywhere.

Kim's ability to multi-task and her willingness to jump in and take charge to keep everyone in line is refreshing. Her team oriented attitude and passion for helping nonprofits to move their missions forward helps everyone see her as the valuable partner she is.

Kim joined Kennari Consulting in 2014 and obtained a BA in Communications from Michigan State University in 2010.
